Bug Fixes & Improvements

Despatch – Error when inserting a sign-on after the final sign-off on a shift sheet

When editing an employee's full day shift sheet in Despatch, inserting a new sign-on entry after the very last sign-off could cause the screen to produce an error while it recalculated the shift's total duration. This happened when a shift entry did not yet have a recorded time. The duration calculation now handles these entries safely, so the shift sheet updates correctly without error.
